Rockbridge Alum Springs.

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS, VA., July 15.—As the thermometer tells the story of the approaching hot season, the register of the old Alum Silo with well-known names in the South's society, and as the days pass the hotels gradually change into scenes of life and beauty.

The new management, with Colonel Eugene Peyton at the helm, has infused new life into many things and is offering inducements to the young society in every sense of the word, which is drawing back not only the old bathers, but many new comers.

The week has left its mark in the social circle. The arrival of Miss Maggie Freeland, of Richmond, and her party and of Colonel Thomas R. Branch, the well-known Georgia banker, and family made its impress. As much could be said of others who promise to add much to the social feature during the season.

The week has furnished several enjoyable card and fruit parties, and a most pleasant hop in the evening, augmented each night by the face of some well-known member of society.

Among the young ladies here are: Miss Nannie Poore of Baltimore, Miss Maggie Freeland of Richmond, Miss Nelle Boykin of Richmond, Miss Marie Lewis of Clark county, Miss Laird Branch of Augusta, Ga., Miss Douglas of Georgia, Miss Lulu Peyton, Miss Evelyn Kenney, Miss Jennie Woodward, Miss Katie Hopkins of Virginia, Misses Etta and Rome Strauser of Baltimore, Miss Annie Belle Goodloe of Arion, Mrs. E. D. Hotchkiss, Mrs. S. P. Lathrop, Mrs. James Patterson, Miss Patterson and Miss Lizzie Patterson of Richmond.

Among the late arrivals are: Joseph B. Donnan, Staunton, Va.; F. J. Friedman, Portsmouth, Va.; John W. Lindsay, Virginia; Miss Ella Crebs, Union, W. Va.; Mrs. T. L. Emry and C. R. Emry of Weldon, N. C.; Louis P. Eckler, Richmond, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cobb, Danville, Va.; V. E. Funkhouser, Lexington, Va.; John C. Bonde, Lexington, Va.; M. W. Paxton, Lexington, Va.; H. C. Roler, Staunton, Va.; Dr. L. E. Flanagan, Charlottesville, Va.; Hon. H. St. George Tucker, Staunton, Va.; J. R. Tucker, Jr., Staunton, Va.; W. P. Gilkerson, Roanoke, Va.; T. Sterrett, Lexington, Va.; F. B. Durrill, Richmond, Va.; Henry E. Mager, Pennsylvania; and Stanhope Libby, Mrs. A. J. Watkins, Miss Elise Watkins, Miss Nellie Watkins, all of Richmond, Va.

The Old Sweet Springs.

SWEET SPRINGS, MONROE CO., W. VA., July 15.—(Special)—This is fine weather for the Springs, and the stage leads that have arrived here to-day delight in the pure mountain air and the relief from the torrid atmosphere of the cities. The gongs sound a cheerful little tune as the stage comes in sight, the band plays and the guests welcome new-comers; so there is pleasure on all sides. The guests of the Sweet up to this date from Virginia are as follows:

From Richmond: Mr. and Mrs. William L. Royal, nurse, and three children; Mrs. T. K. Parrish, nurse and two children; Misses Blanche and Mamie Bishop, Mr. H. J. Myers, Miss Maud Saunders and Mr. H. B. Robinson.

From Norfolk: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baylor and maid, Misses Lucy and Mary Baylor and Master McIntosh Baylor; Messrs. M. A. and A. M. Angleasto; Mr. Edw. Burr, U. S. A.; Mrs. Edw. Burr, two children and maid; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Grandy, three children and maid.

Quite a number of guests are here from St. Louis, Louisville, New York, West Virginia, Ohio, Massachusetts, New Orleans and Philadelphia.
